Example – The Highland Falcon Thief

Eleven-year-old Hal Beck is invited to go on an incredible railway journey with his journalist Uncle Nat.

The legendary train, the Highland Falcon, is taking its final journey around the country with some very special passengers. Surrounded by royalty, celebrities and wealthy business people, Hal soon finds himself in the middle of a classic train mystery worthy of the Orient Express. Jewels are stolen and it's up to Hal and his new friend Lenny to solve the case.

As they gather clues, observe suspects and try to catch the thief, they experience the adventure of a lifetime and Hal can't help but fall in love with trains.
